The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-4 and 7-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Saiki et al.

Saiki et al discloses polymer blends suitable for molded articles. These blends are taught as comprising polyester resin and copolyether esters (abstract) and reinforcing fillers (claim 4). While the reference fails to explicitly recite an inhomogeneous distribution of the two polymers or applicants claimed physical properties, these characteristics are seen as inherent to the compositions since the polymeric makeup of the rejected claims is met. Further applicants give no quantitative requirement of the degree of inhomogeneity.

Claims 5, 6 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
